

Why is a wooden spoon like a wooden spoon?

▶ Will this handle hold the weight of the block end?

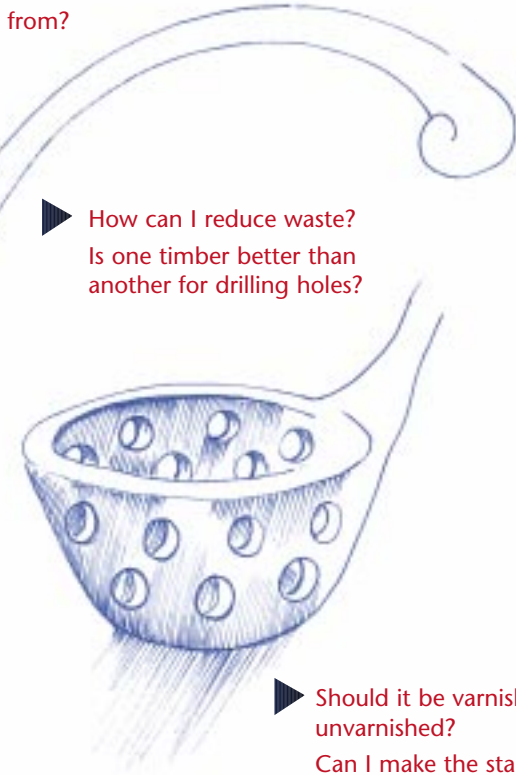

▶ Will this shape work when stirring food in pots?
Should I cut with the grain or against it?

▶ Is this handle suitable? Too long? Strong enough?
What size block do I need to cut this from?

▶ How can I reduce waste?
Is one timber better than another for drilling holes?

▶ Should it be varnished or unvarnished?
Can I make the stand out of a different timber?

▶ I like this version of the design for serving but it won't work well for stirring

▶ What timber species are best for use with moisture and heat?
What functions must this design perform?
What happens if I use nails or adhesives?
Is the appearance of the spoon important?
