

From the earliest times, people have depended on forests – for food and shelter, for warmth and safety, for materials and resources. People who live in country towns on the fringes of our production forests have strong links to the places that have provided their communities with employment for generations.